WEST MARKET

LOUISVILLE, KY.

Everybody in Louisville knows what a "L" means. We want the whole lot to know that it stands for Louisville's Greatest Clothing House.

A man once knew LEVY'S, he says, there, and when he once bought there, he stops till he dies, and then he will tell to his oldest son and bid him keep the practice of his father. Have you ever seen LEVY'S? If not, why not, and don't want to try it one? If you're inclined now's the time, because now LEVY'S is selling clothing cheaper than ever before in Temporary Quarter, at 321 West Main between Third and Fourth, half square block old corner. LEVY'S is now working glory rather than profit. The idea is to sell all our big trade and take it back with us the new house next spring. In order to do this we shall offer unsold "BARGAINS" during the whole time—which may be had all times by people out of town, who will be by mail. Send the money and we'll send it to you, if you don't like you may return it and get back your money. Be sure to call in the city.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

II.

EDITOR BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.—In my last communication on the history of Fifty Years Ago, allusion was made to the mental giants, as well as physical in these parts.

To begin, would mention the legal bar at Hardinsburg of resident and visiting lawyers. Of course it will not be expected that I write a history of each or even mention their names, as they were numerous, and so many years have intervened that names have escaped me.

Among them however, I remember Ben. Hardin, who attained national reputation, and deservedly so. Also, Phil Triplett, the cultivated and accomplished lawyer; John Calhoun, remarkable for his polish and fine physique; Jno. McHenry, of Hartford, the embodiment of honor; Frank Peyton, the dandified, shrewd, advocate; J. W. Kinschles, who would rather die than lie, had not yet begun the practice. So also, with James Stewart who afterwards became prominent and was frequently retained. Others worthy of mention, I will have to omit lest I worry your patience. Any of the above would have adorned the Hall of Congress, and some have sat in the Presidential chair very comfortably.

I have heard speeches in the old Hardinsburg court house that would have done honor to a Roman or Athenian orator. Taking the status of those times as a basis, has there been the advancement in legal knowledge and oratory, that there has been along other lines?

In those days if a murder occurred the guilty was hung. If he stole, he was sent to the penitentiary or flogged at the whipping post. Crimes seemed less frequent, even population considered. In those days, if it could be proven that the offender was under the influence of drink when the crime was committed, it somewhat palliated the offense, as it was the custom, for even the best men to keep their decanter and white sugar ready for a visitor. Now, the first question asked is How much money has the culprit? If a big pile maybe a hitch can be made somewhere along the line. There is the judge, jury, prosecuting attorney and witnesses as well as doctors to make out a case of emotional insanity some one of whom may probably yield his honor at the shrine of mammon.

When a boy we would fix up a debating society on Friday evening, and frequently debate such questions as "Which was the more powerful fire or water," or the pen or the sword, never deeming it worth while to consider the dollar as the agency of power. But I have come to see the mistake. The advice of the writer is to always have enough money with which to buy craps to mourn the losses of friends, in case your pocket book should collapse, for great will be the mortuary report.

OHIO COUNTY.

(Hartford Herald.)

Harvest has begun and the yield promises to be an unusually large one.

Miss Jennie Johnstone, of this place, left Sunday for an extended visit to her father at Cloverport, Ky.

The fourth quarterly Conference for the Hartford Circuit will be held at Goshen, July 30th and 31st.

Rev. B. A. Cundiff is in town, the guest of Rev. E. E. Pate. He will preach at the Methodist Church to-night.

Mr. George W. Jolly, of Owensboro, a high dignitary in Republican councils, United States Attorney for the district of Kentucky, and an excellent gentleman and lawyer, is in Hartford.

Wm. Milligan has rented the Commercial Hotel, recently vacated by Mr. Stahl, and will return there from cellar to garret with brand new furniture. The Hotel will be open for guests about the first of the month.

While engaged in target practice with a small rifle Saturday, Dr. J. H. White suffered a severe injury to his right eye, which has occasioned him great pain and uneasiness. The gun had become "bedded" and when fired, the barrel became choked and the charge forced the ball of the cartridge back through the breech and the explosion of the powder near his face came near resulting in the Doctor's loss of sight.

J. W. Wootter, of near Fordville, was tried for a breach of the peace by unmercifully beating his grown daughter. His punishment was fixed at a fine of $100 and twenty-five days in jail. There were at least 200 ladies and gentlemen at Fordville present at the trial, and they cheered to the echo when the verdict of the jury was read.

PISGAH.

Miss Flora Ryan is teaching school at this place.

Mr. Mora Galloway is teaching a singing school at the church.

Miss Allie Jones, of Rock Vale, who has been visiting Miss Maggie Hamblen has returned home.

Mr. C. D. Hamblen had a tumor successfully cut from his eye not long since. Dr. Clayton and Dr. Owen performed the operation.

Our Sabbath school at this place is in a flourishing condition. Mr. Lou Pate is our superintendent.

We truly believe Dr. Witt's Little Early Biscuits to be the most natural, most effective, most prompt and economical pill for biliousness, indigestion and inactive liver.—For sale by Short & Haynes, Cloverport, and Beard & Beeler, Hardinsburg.

is in every part of the land. Write for names.

Unbecoming And Alarming.

The contending Alabama delegation at Minneapolis claimed that Deputy Marshals took possession of the primary polls and returned a Harrison delegation to the Republican Convention. The citizens of Wyoming in mass meetings assembled, and a Republican Senator presiding, protest against the action of Federal troops in the State arresting and holding in confinement its citizens, its State government being in full operation, its militia being sufficiently strong to put down disorders or insurrection, and its courts being open. But while the presence and conduct of Deputy Marshals at the Alabama polls is to be condemned, and the action of the Federal authorities in Wyoming a flagrant and monstrous interference with the affairs of the State, it is unbecoming the Alabama contestants and the Wyoming Republicans to protest against the one, and to denounce in resolutions the other; for they are reaping that which they sowed, and sowed against the never ceasing protests of the Democratic party.

With the contention of the Alabama Outs against the Alabama Ins the Democratic party has no concern—a plague on both their houses, and may each eat out the vitals of the other—but the action of the Federal authorities in Wyoming concerns the Democracy inasmuch as it concerns the people; the peculiarity of the case being that a Republican Senator leads in the protests against an act which is purely the result of the Federalism which is at once the corner stone of the Republican party and the source of danger to free government.

If the Federal authorities can enter upon the soil of a State, usurp its sovereign authority, disregard the fact that its courts are open and its government in full exercise of all its powers, no call having been made upon the President by the Governor for troops, in time of peace, and no election in process, what would be the action of the Federal authorities in the use of Deputy Marshals and troops if a Force bill were part of the laws enacted by Congress and approved by the President? Wyoming is not a Southern State, but a Northern State admitted to the Union for Republican purposes and sending Republican Senators and a Republican member to Congress. If the Federal authorities may usurp the powers of Wyoming and have the countenance of the Republican administration what would be done, or rather what will be done, in Alabama next November?

Is it an experiment undertaken to determine the temper of the people? Is it the first step to taking possession of the polls in Wyoming where there are symptoms of revolt against Republican maladministration, to be followed by taking possession of the polls in other States? Whatever be the purpose the action is alarming to all who believe in free government and who believe that in strict observance of the powers delegated to the Federal government and of the powers reserved by the States is the only salvation for free institutions.

The situation as it is to-day demands of every Democrat, of every man who is not content with Federalism as to be lost to reason and to liberty, to unite as one man at the polls in the complete overthrow of the party of Reed seeking to destroy every vestige of Federalism and of constitutional rights, and the party of McKinley, taxing, not property, but that which is necessary for consumption.—Kentucky Journal.

Compliments For Dave.

Keystone Lodge, Henderson, gave a picnic on the 25th of May. Grand Master Murray was present and delivered one of the grandest and most eloquent orations it has ever been our pleasure to hear. He spoke for more than an hour, and during that time was listened to with rapt attention, only being interrupted by frequent rounds of applause when the flowers and force of his eloquence touched a responsive chord in the hearts of his hearers. Much of his address was directed at the ladies, bless 'em, with the evident desire of disabusing their minds from some of their misconceptions regarding fraternalism in general and the A. O. U. W. in particular, and he succeeded admirably. We are sorry we cannot give his address verbatim, for it would "make very fine reading," but found it impossible to procure the services of a stenographer to take notes. The Hon. W. P. McClain, of Henderson, delivered the address of welcome in his usual elegant and felicitous style. Although the number of guests from abroad was not what was expected, the picnic proved an eminent success, both from a social and financial point of view.—The Kentucky Workman.

The Colored Brother Will be Invited In November.

We clip the following "Notice of Invitation" from the Evening News, the official Republican organ of Henderson county and a leading o. p. journal in the Second District. It seems that the "cynical race" is not yet welcome in Republican circles, and it may be that reference is made to such selfish actions as this by that plank in the Republican platform where they "denounce the continued inhuman outrages perpetrated upon American citizens in certain Southern States of the Union." Here is the invitation:

"There will be a meeting of the White Republicans of the Audubon district on Monday, June 13th, at the Audubon school-house at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of ratifying the nomination of President Harrison for re-election to the Presidency, and any other business that may come up. All white Republicans are earnestly requested to attend. By order of A. W. Howard, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee for the district of Audubon."

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

What a day of fun it's going to be in Cloverport on the

FOURTH OF JULY

The Grand 4th will be ushered in by the booming of cannons and the crackling of fire crackers, amid the shouts of the small boys. The Brass Bands marching through the city and thousands of flags floating on the morning breeze, will present a royal welcome to the thousands of strangers who will be in the city on that day, from the Lodges at Hawesville, Cannelton, Tell City, Owensboro, Henderson, Central City, and other lodges throughout the State.

Cloverport does nothing by jerks, she goes at it to win, and the Ancient Order of United Workmen, assisted by the Merchants of this city, has determined that every body who spends the 4th in Cloverport, shall go away shouting the praise of our hospitality; as ten big fat sheep, six large fat hogs and two big beeves will be barbecued that day. Besides other refreshments on the grounds, there will be plenty of ice water, free for all.

So popular has Cloverport grown with her many attractions, and the large crowds that are coming, both up and down the Texas road, that the management of the Barbecue has had to secure the large LaHeist Grove, to hold the big crowd, The Oglesby Grove being too small, where all can find plenty of shade, where fun and merriment awaits you. The Celebrated Hawesville String Band has been secured to furnish music for the dancing, and two large dancing floors are being prepared for your enjoyment.

Don't Be a Clam---Don't Be a Snail

Don't stay shut up in your house all day, but get a move on you and come and spend your 4th in a live progressive town, among live progressive people.

TAR FORK.

Corn crops are tolerably good.

We had a nice rain here this week which was very much needed.

Wheat harvest has begun in this vicinity. There is generally very good here.

Tobacco setting is thorough with, which most people were late with on account of the early wet weather.

There has been two or three old crops of tobacco sold in this neighborhood of late, which sold at a very high price.

Mr. Andrew Frank, of Jolly's Station died a short time ago. He had been ailing for some years. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his loss. We sympathize very much with the bereaved family.

It should not be forgot to give an account of the estate dinner and quelling given by Mrs. B. H. Bates on the 17th of June in honor of her 65th, birthday. Friends and relatives were numerous, numbering 45 in all. The table was spread with the very nicest of cake and pies of various kinds, and everything else that was nice and good. The guests were seated at the tables and Beech Fork had marched around the house and played several pieces of music which was very attractive to the ladies that were present. That will be a day long remembered by the friends of Mrs. Bates. We wish her many more happy birthdays. Her many friends and relatives were very numerous to mention.

THE BACKENKOPF NEWS is a welcome visitor at our little home. We are always glad to read the News and the many grand and good advertisements of the good old city of Cloverport.

From another correspondent

It rained very hard Sunday.

There is no serious sickness in our neighborhood.

C. W. Stone is our Sunday school superintendent.

Last week was dry and the farmers got in a good week's work.

The farmers have planted large crops of corn and tobacco in this community and we trust that they may raise good crops and get good prices for them.

HARDIN COUNTY.

(Independent.)

Hon. Harvey Harold Smith came here yesterday evening sick and is compelled to remain for a few days from his country.

Our Creamery is doing nice business.

In the way of making butter and cheese. There is demand for all the butter right from the churn. The factory has about 100 cows, and the butter is sold, now, mostly for the market, no better can had any where.

Rev. R. W. Browder is finishing up his fourth year of hard and useful labor at the Elizabethtown District. Under his presidency the district has moved up on all lines of business. Many new churches and parsonages have come into existence, and the work of the district has been additions to the church. Mr. Browder is a strong man in the pulpit and is deservedly popular through the district.

The culmination of one of the most sensational episodes in the history of the second trial and conviction of Charles Moore, ex-Deputy Clerk, last Monday, is, to say the least, a very peculiar one. Three counts, aggregating six years and a day, and the other thirteen indictments having been filed away; whether or not the jury will find the defendant guilty is left discretionary with the Common

YOUTH'S attorney, who is the crime for which Moore was put in the penitentiary, has been forgoing without claim, his actual sentence. Deputy Clerk under C. M. Fraide. The total amount secured by him in this way is said to have been in the neighborhood of $8,000. Special Judge De Haven, on Saturday, before whom Moore was tried, was to pay the penalty for the crime, but he was not present. The trial started with the prisoner for Edgelyville Monday night. While there is no question of Moore's guilt, as he himself acknowledged, yet there is profound sympathy expressed for each member of his family. In as much as this ends the last trial in the Moore case, and especially it is hoped time will cause these unpleasant memories to be forgotten and that there may never be a re-occurrence of such to mar the fair name of Hardin county and Elizabethtown.
